Peter Milonni and Joe Eberly are among the best if not the best professional physics writers in contemporary English; for the former it slightly redeems comparative lack of originality of his own research. Their "Laser Physics" is the only book one needs to get complete understanding of the field.

"Laser Physics" Milonni & Eberly (Wiley 2010); this is available in the Bookstore. " Modern Optics Notes " 2010 — adjunct material: PDF of old version of course includes some background material, much laser physics, but not as much laser physics as in Milonni & Eberly. Recommended purchase (in general, also for other courses!)

Physics 533: Lasers (2008) Discussion Questions: ... The solution to equation (3.3.1) is the steady state solution (3.3.5). However, Milonni and Eberly point out that any solution to the homogeneous case can be added to the steady state solution which then provides a transient contribution. What is the physical source or meaning of this ...

(a) The laser beam has only a slightly larger diameter at 10m distance from the laser and the laser power is of the order of 1W. (b) Assuming that the luminescence radiation is emitted isotropically, the power reaching an area of 1cm diameter is $P \propto \sin^2 \theta$, where θ is the angle corresponding to the area. It follows that $\theta \propto \sqrt{P}$...

Peter Walden Milonni (born 5 May 1947) is an American theoretical physicist who deals with quantum optics, laser physics, quantum electrodynamics and the Casimir effect. Milonni earned his PhD in 1974 at the University of Rochester. He then worked at the Air Force Weapons Laboratory from 1974 to 1977, then working at PerkinElmer from 1977 to 1980.

This course is designed as an elective for M.Sc. & M.Tech level students and will deal with the essential ideas that go into the making of a Laser. We begin with the basic formulation of light-matter interaction, going on to understanding the spectral lineshapes, resonator geometry, gain, optical pumping, power and frequency of lasers.
